

Figure 1.

Level One: Comprised of one or more groups of members; such group may have a predetermined maximum or minimum number of members; each member of a level one group may comparatively rank all members of the same level one group and perhaps members of other level one groups

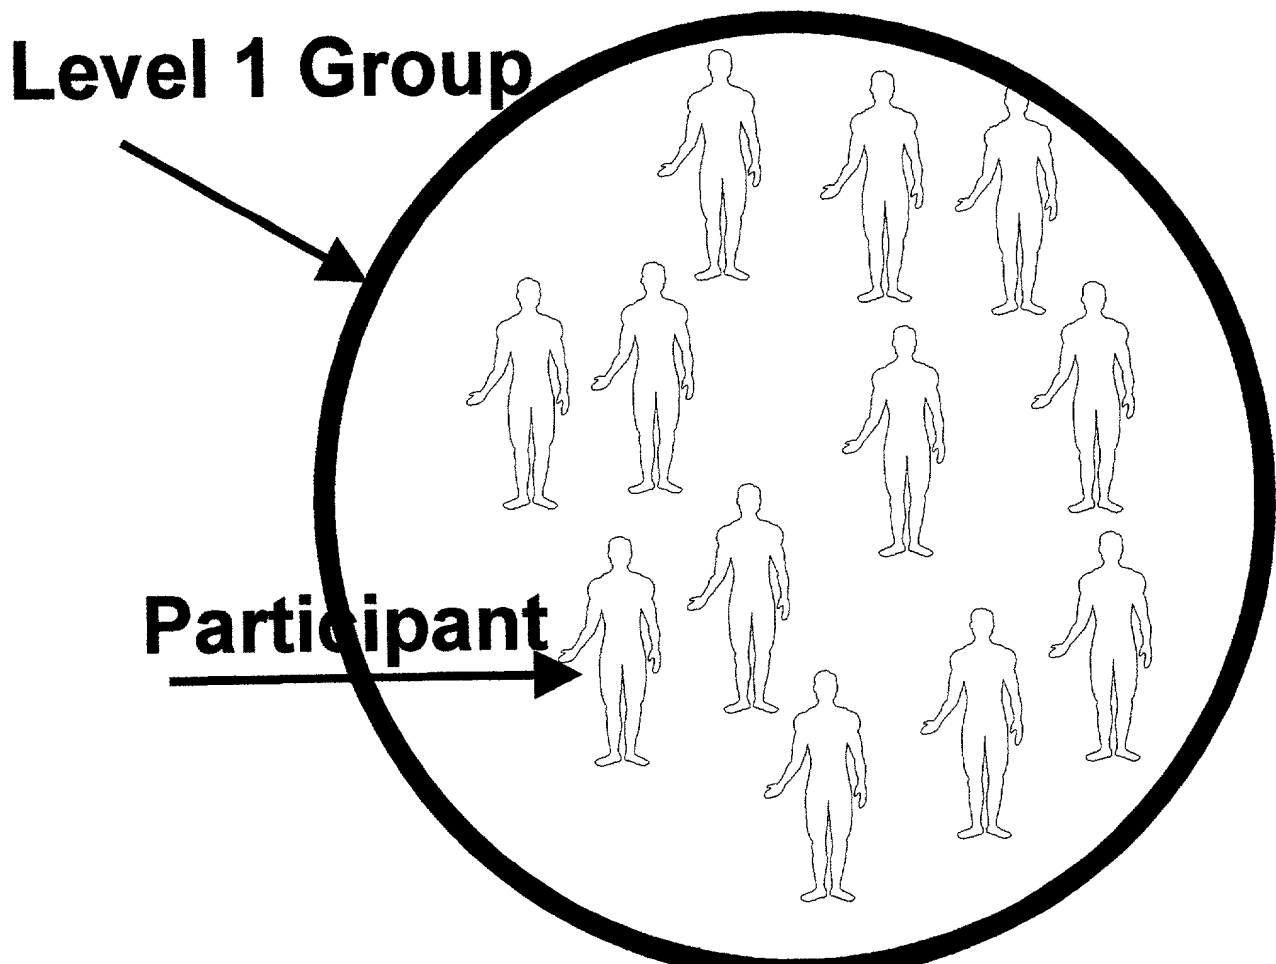

Figure 2.

Level Two is comprised of one or more groups of level one groups; all members within a level two group may rate or comparatively rank all level 1 groups contained within the members level 2 group.

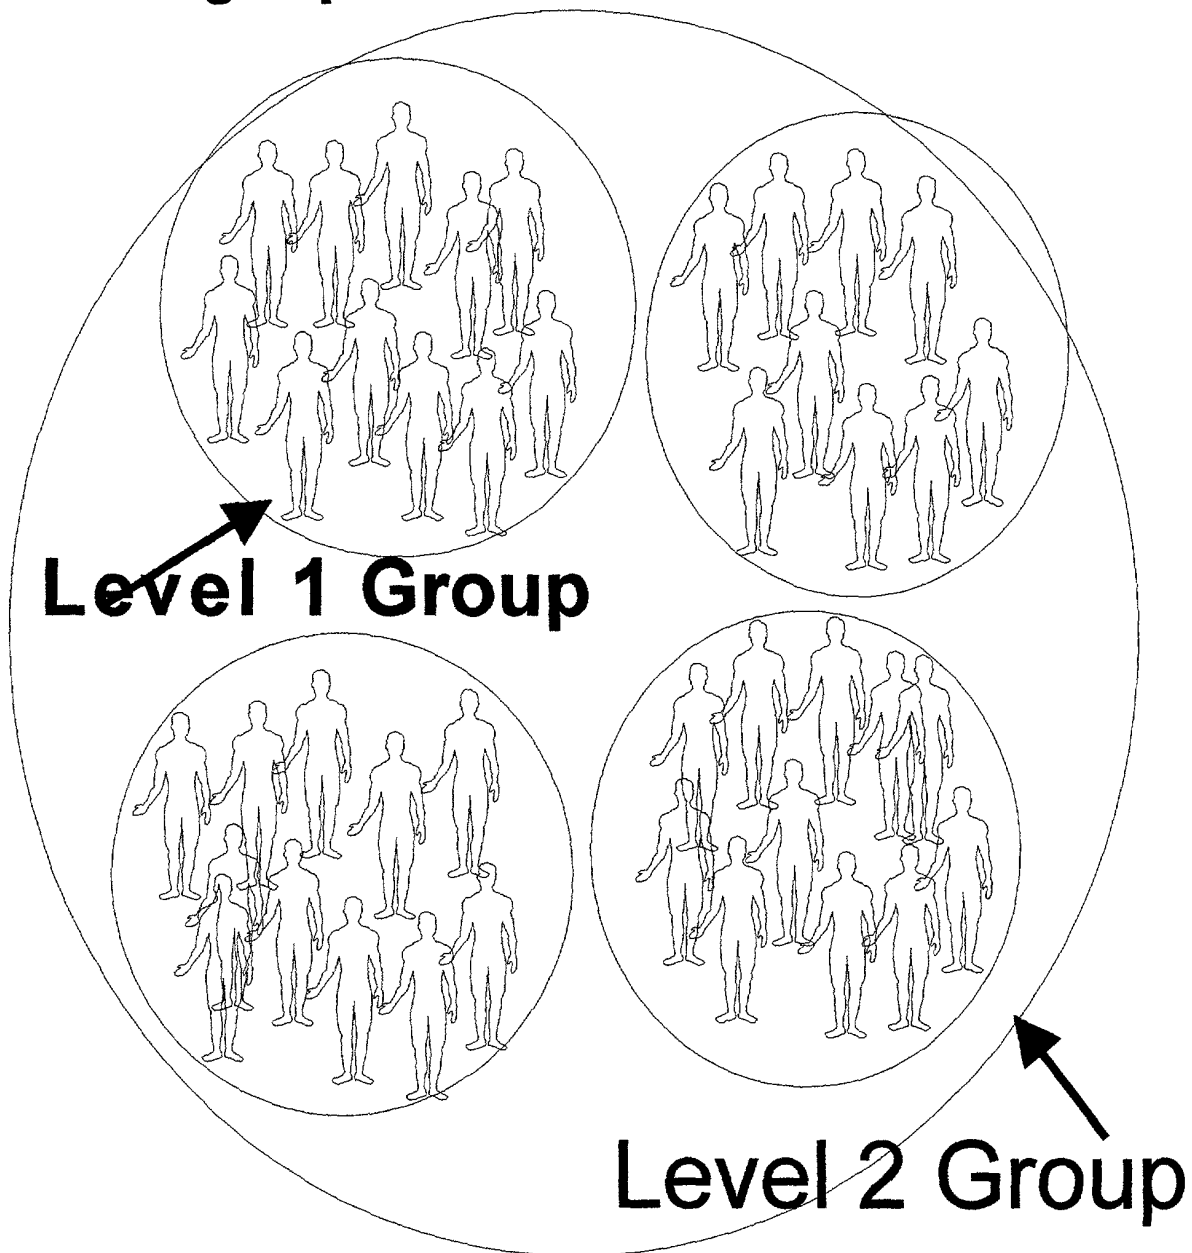

Figure 3.

Level Three, is comprised of one or more level 2 groups; all members of the level 3 group will rate or comparatively rank all level 2 groups within the level 3 group and perhaps level 2 groups in

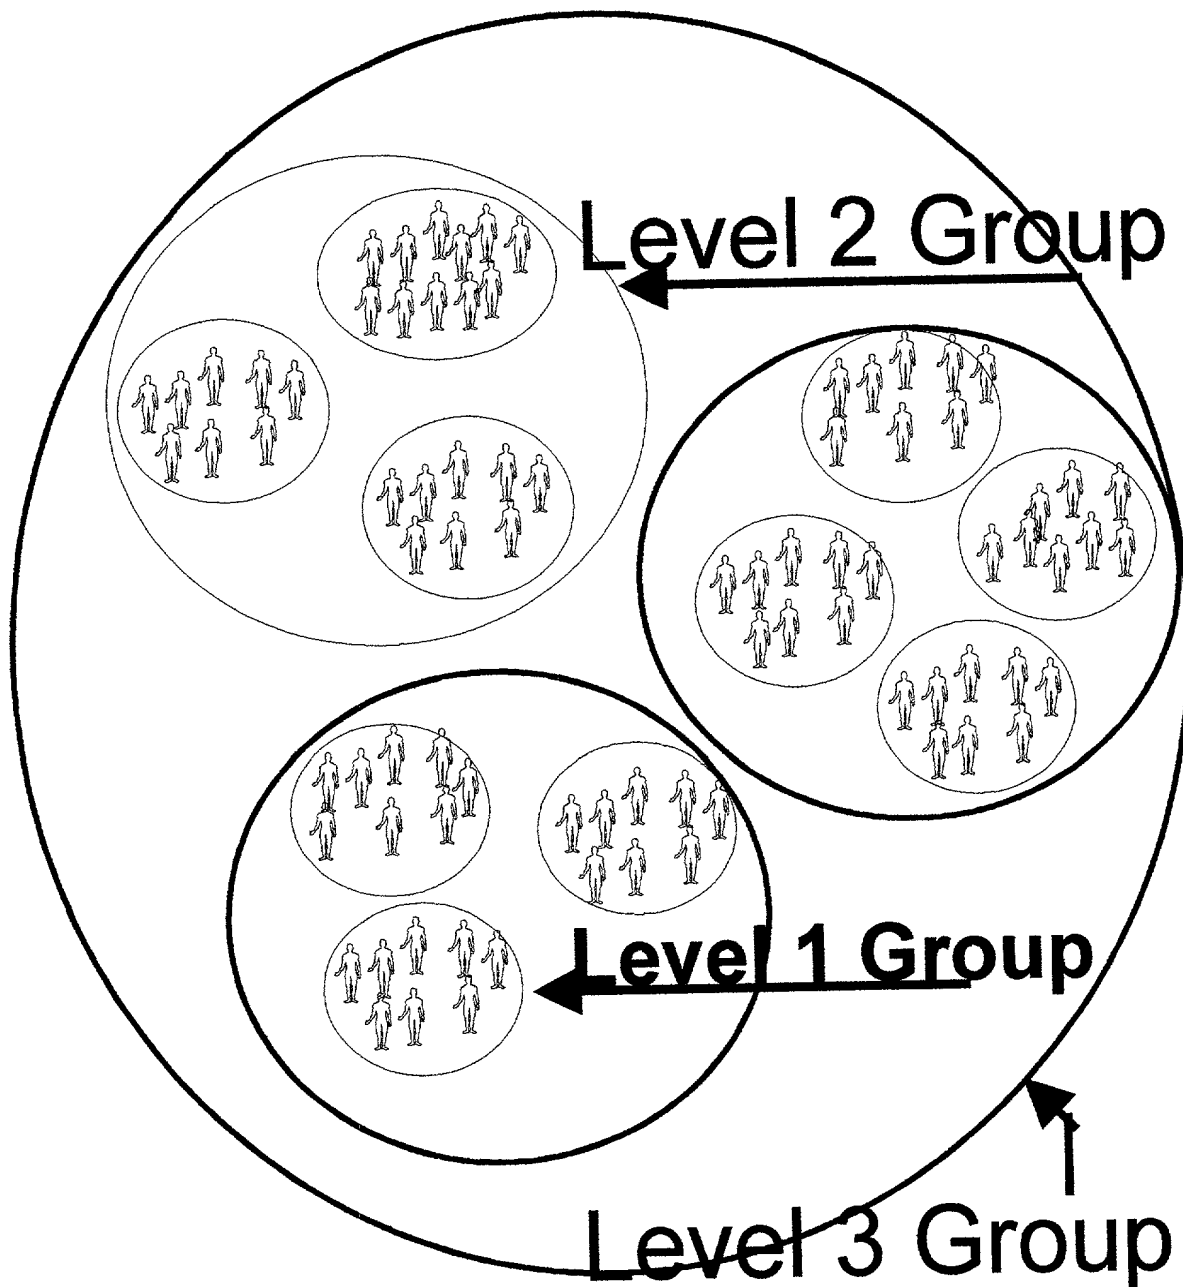

Figure 4.

Level Four: comprised of two or more level 3 groups; each group may be subject to comparative ranking by all members within the same level 4 group and other participants.

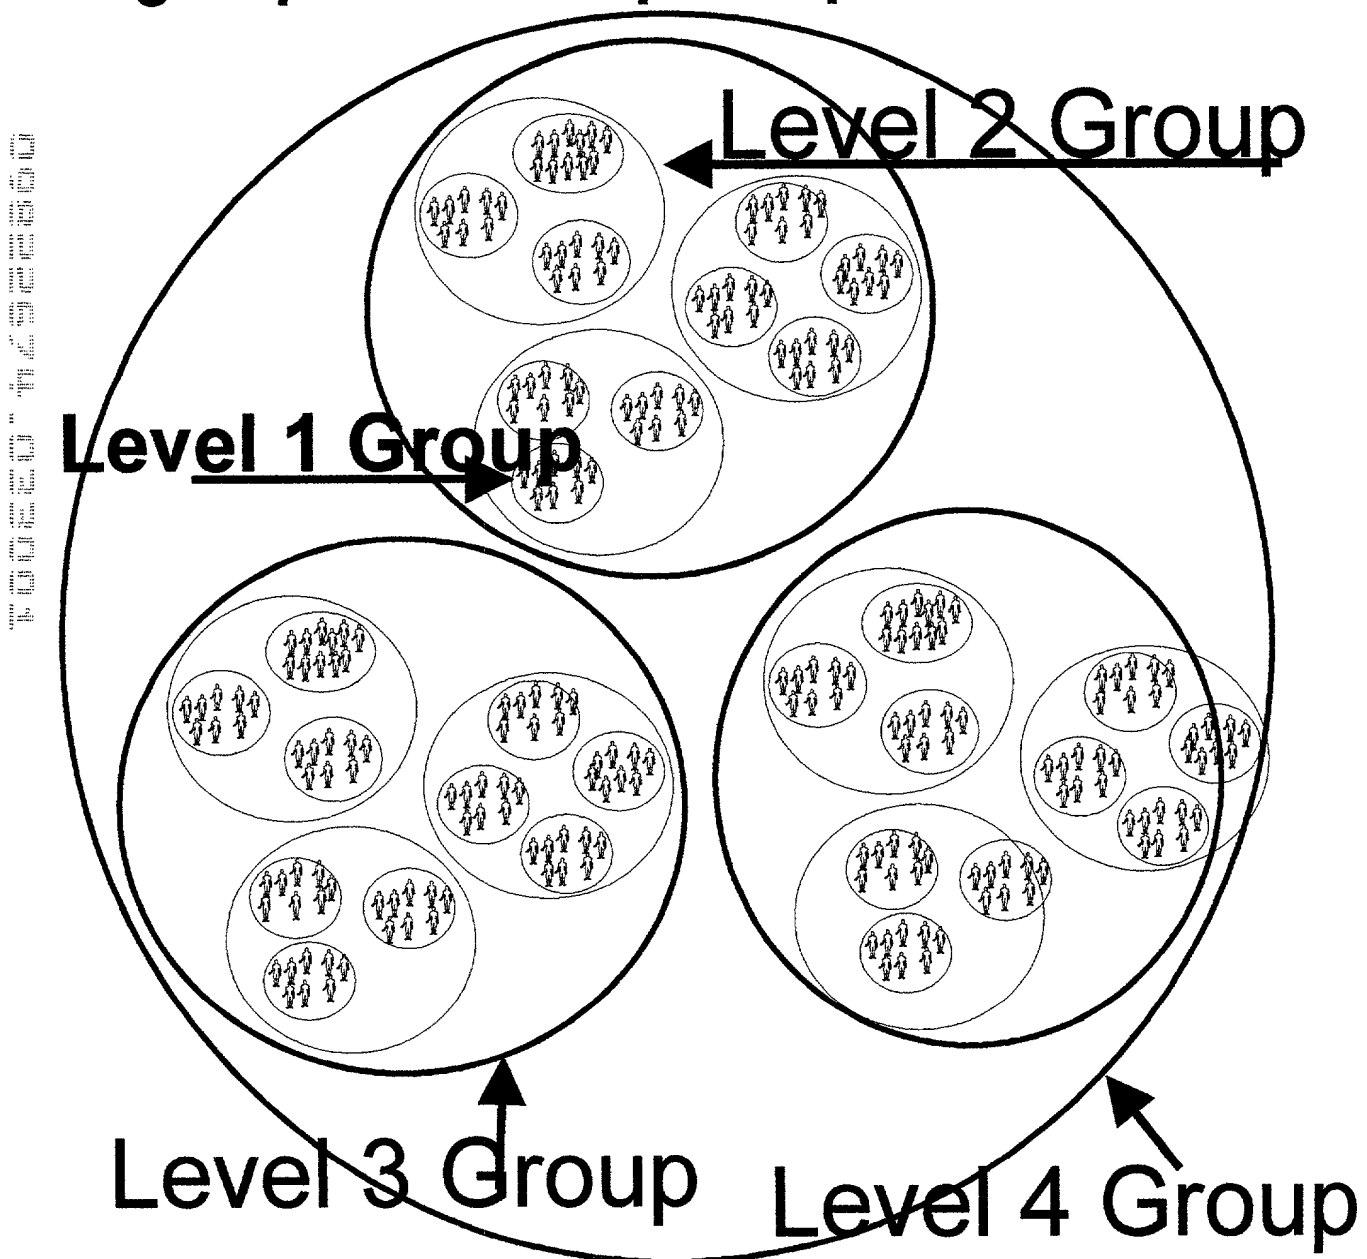

Figure 5.

Level Five: comprised of two or more level 4 groups.

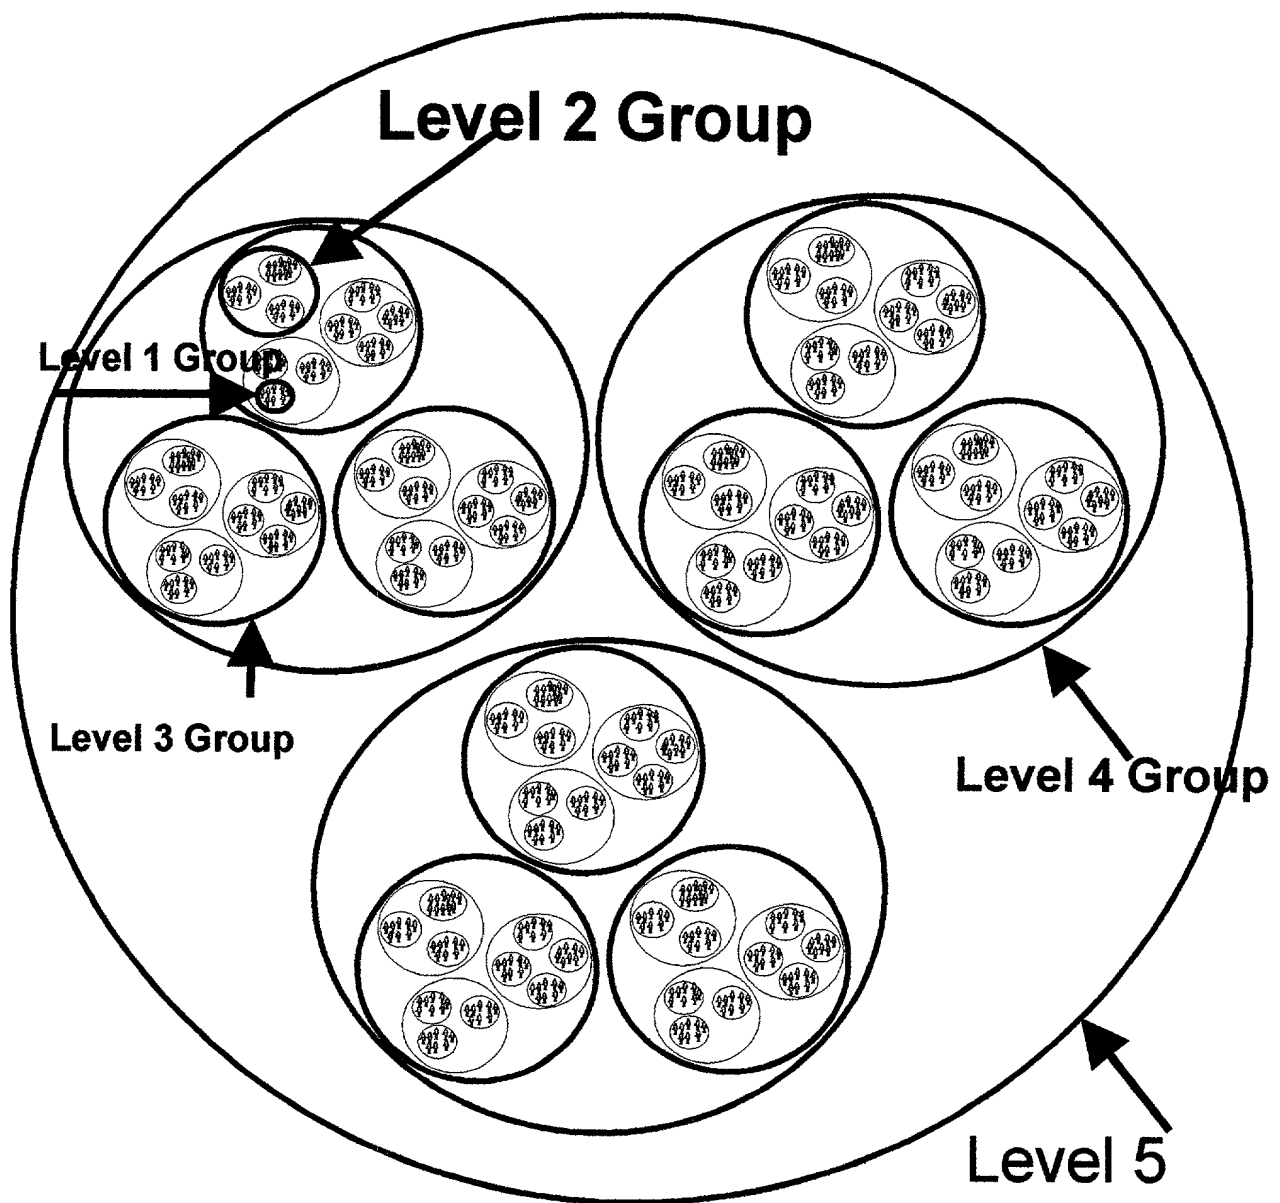

Figure 6.

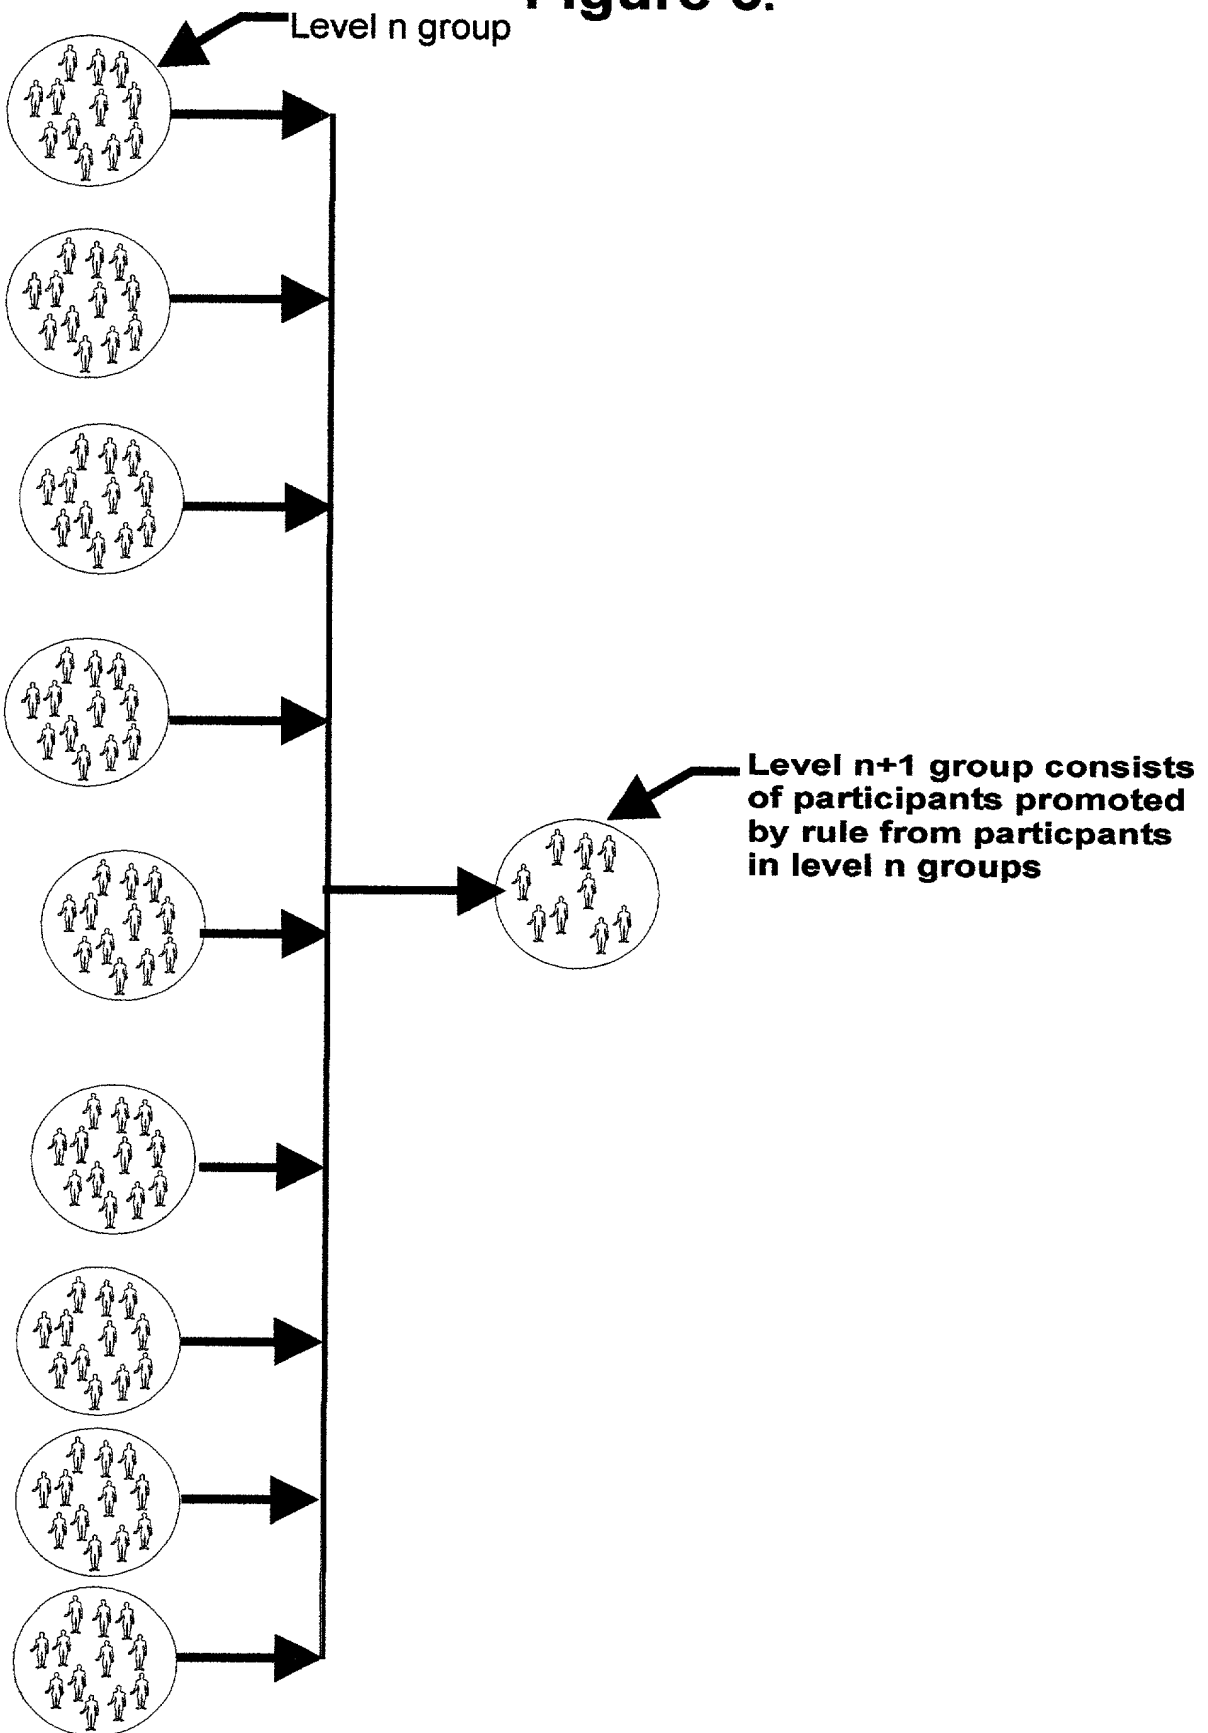

Figure 7.

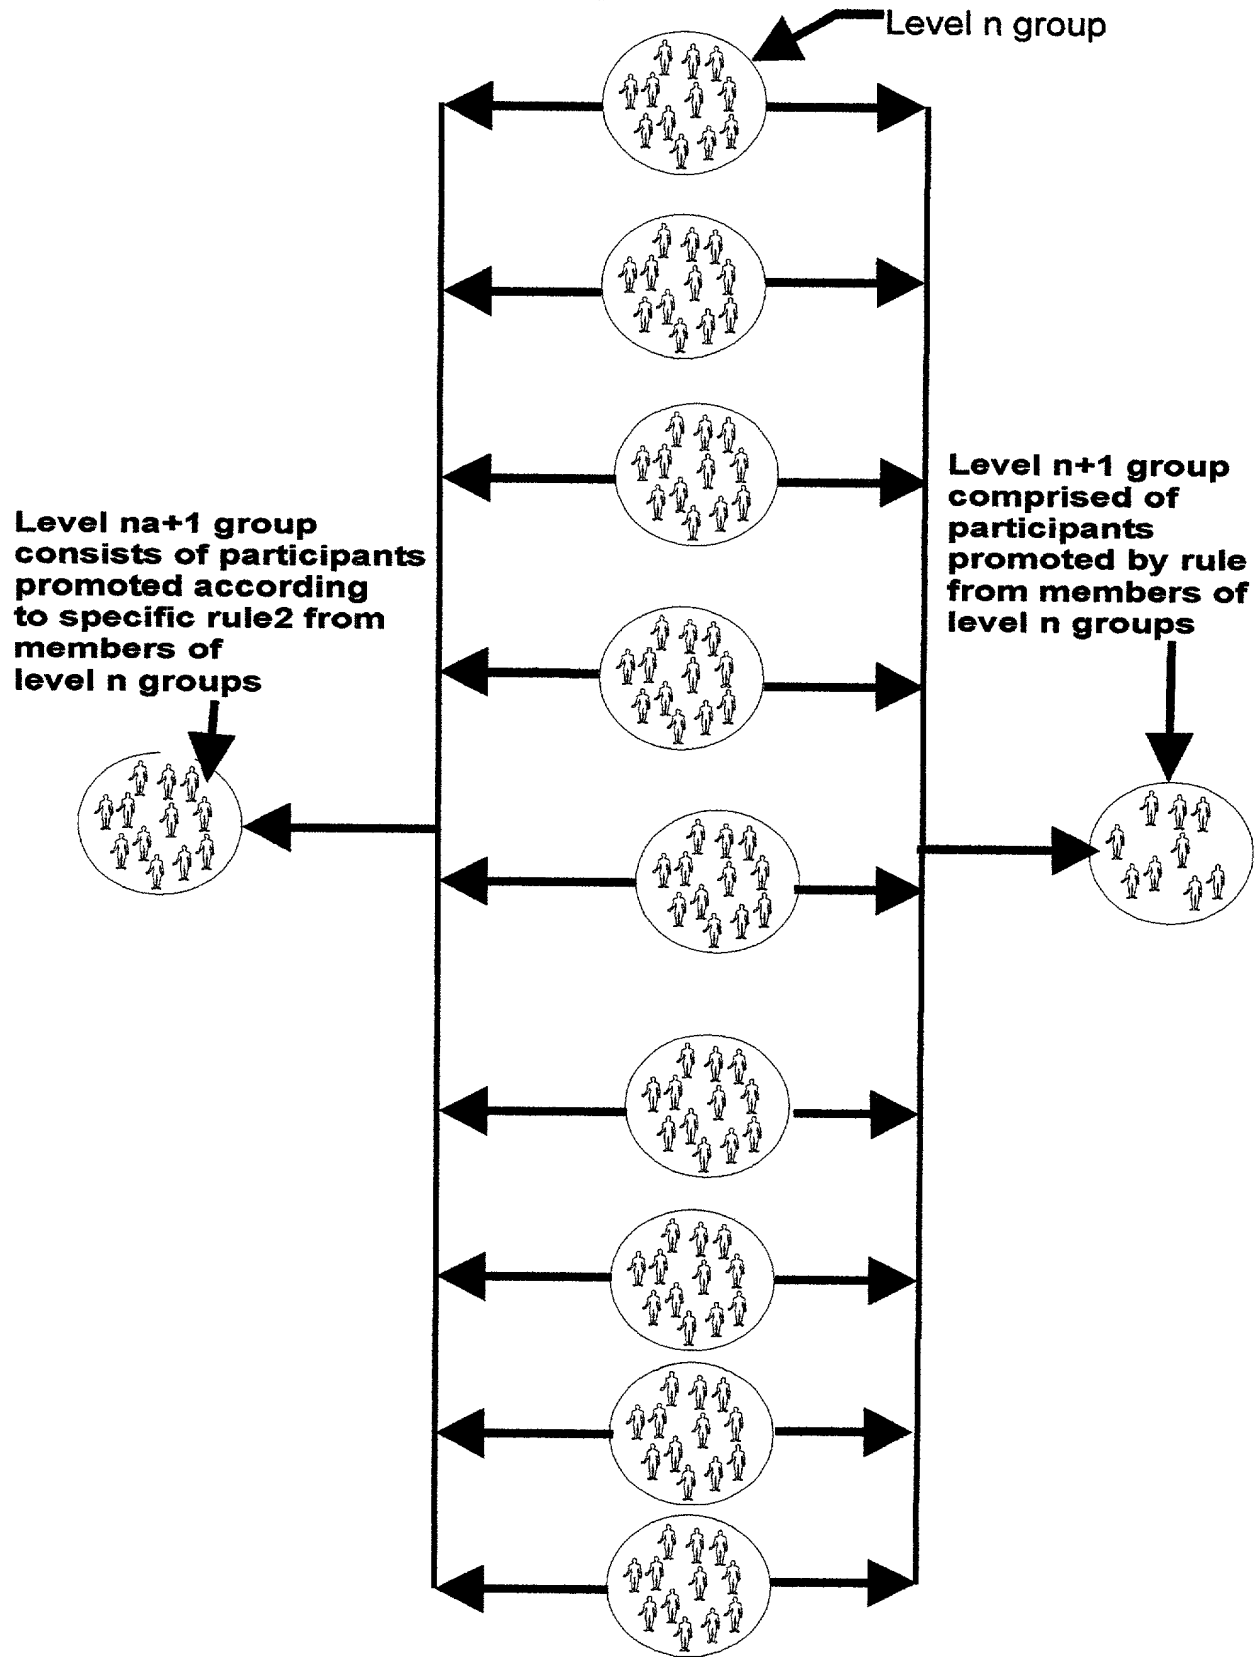

Figure 8.

This figure illustrates a level one computer screen whereby the participant ranks from 1 to n the status of n participants in the website activities.

Particiipant	Rank	Comments
John Doe	9	I like don't like him
Jane Smith	3
James Little	4
George Simple	7
Fred House	1	I like him
Sarah Dimple	10	He's workin hard on our project
Marvin Doright	2
Brooke Leigh	5
Jack Brown	6
Mark White	8
Charles White	n

Figure 9.

This figure illustrates a level two through level $n-1$ computer screen whereby the participant ranks from 1 to n the status of n groups in the website activities.

Group level 1	Rank	Comments
Arizona Bombers	9	Needs to be more helpful
The Fruitflies	3
The Georgia Walnuts	4
The Swinging seven	7	Hard workin dudes
The Roaring twenty	1
The Corn Ears	10	Needs to be more constructive
The byte bunch	2
The Binomials	5	Creative and helpful
The Exit Ramps	6
The Hard Disks	8
The Compacts	n	